Buying Their Way In

Dear Editor,

I would like to acknowledge everyone who has supported the California Lavender Smokefree Project over the last five years. We have built a strong Statewide structure of "resource teams" – with the help of organizations like The Last Drag, The American Cancer Society, The American Lung Association, San Francisco Pride, the Tobacco Free Project, and LYRIC. The teams made up of volunteers and representatives identified and developed strategies to counter the tobacco industry's insidious targeting of our community.

Although the project in its current form has ended, the work of the project will be carried on. Watch for efforts to bring the high LGBT smoking rates down and to keep the tobacco industry from buying its way into our organizations, events, and publications. As new funding becomes available from the State, we hope that other organizations will apply and invest into the health of our community. Thank you to everyone who understands that the LGBT community has suffered enough. We will continue to fight for our health and freedom.

Thank you,
California Lavender Smokefree Project

Letter to the Governor

Dear Editor,

I am enclosing my Letter to the Governor that I hope you will publish in MGW concerning the ADA Disability Backlash. (Sacramento Bee, June 14).

Dear Governor Davis,

It has come to my attention that you have decided to attack the constitutionality of the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990 (ADA) in the U.S. Supreme Court. It is disheartening since as a registered Democrat, I voted to elect you as Governor to represent my interests and that of other minority groups. I now find that instead of getting your support for equal access, you intend to cast away the civil rights that the ADA ensures. The ADA means that I can access the state's many programs, services, and employment opportunities, and your actions will restrict or eliminate my equal enjoyment of these public accommodations.

Californians with disabilities deserve better from a Governor the disabled community helped to elect. It is imperative that you withdraw your challenge to the constitutionality of the ADA.

It was President George Bush, a Republican, who signed the ADA on July 26, 1990 and became a champion of the 36 million citizens with disabilities by protecting our rights of freedom and equal access. The question remains whether you will go down in history as a hero and champion of disability rights and equality or whether you will be remembered as a villain who rolled back the civil rights of people with disabilities.

Sincerely,
Connie J. Arnold

We Can Work it Out

Dear Editor,

For over 12 years I have served on the Robla School Board in Sacramento. I am proud of the accomplishments we have made providing the best education to the children of our community. I have decided to run for re-election. The former Robla Superintendent, Paul Rahe, articulates the thoughts of many people in the district.

I consider Gary Miller one of the most effective board members I have worked with during my 35 years of administrative work in Robla.

I have also received the endorsements of Supervisor Roger Dickinson, Assemblywoman Shelia Kuehl, and Assemblyman Darrell Steinberg.

Yet there is a small element in my community that does not care about all that. Their only concern is the fact that I am gay. They believe gay people should not even have the right to run for office.

Every time I have run in the past, I have had anti-gay literature distributed door to door in my school district. Two years ago my sexual orientation was an issue and I wasn't even running then.

I need your help. Any financial contribution would be deeply appreciated. If you are local and would like to volunteer some time, that would also be appreciated. Let me know if I can help you in any way!

Sincerely,
Gary Miller

Publisher Says Thanks!

Dear Editor,

Thank you so very much for the article you published on our book "The Two-Headed Dragon."

The review by Kathi Farot-Brown was most generous and appreciated. Sean Hoag, the author, had captured many of the struggles and the subsequent gifts he found and wanted so much to share them in this book.

BSA Doesn't Deserve Merit Badges

The U.S. Supreme Court ruled 5-4 in Dale vs. Boy Scouts of America (BSA) to overturn the New Jersey Supreme Court's unanimous decision against the Scouts. The New Jersey court had ruled that the BSA was subject to state anti-discrimination laws so they could not deny membership based on sexual orientation. With the U.S. Court's ruling, the BSA may prohibit gay men and boys from becoming members and troop leaders.

BSA executive officer Doug McDonald is pleased with the decision since it "affirms [the BSA's] standing as a private association with the right to set our own standards for membership and leadership." Many civil rights leaders deplore the decision claiming the BSA's exclusion of gays, atheists, and agnostics sends the wrong message to children. "Good citizenship and a more peaceful world require understanding and tolerance, not rejection of human differences," says Elizabeth Toledo, Executive Director of the National Gay and Lesbian Task Force.

While the ruling was a disappointment, civil rights organizations across the nation have vowed to continue their campaigns for equal rights for all people. ▼

GLBT activists in San Francisco condemn the Boy Scouts of America and the U.S. Supreme Court on their gay discrimination policy.

Law Enforcement Enhancement Act Needed

This legislation will provide state and local law enforcement agencies with resources necessary to investigate bias related crimes. It will authorize the Attorney General to grant up to $100,000 to cover training of officers, public education, and other expenses related to hate crime investigations. The Justice Department will be given jurisdiction over hate crimes resulting in bodily injury. The Hate Crimes Statistics Act will be amended to require collection of data on gender-based crimes. ▼

Lesbian Joins Democratic Platform Drafting Committee

Democratic National Committee has invited Tina Podlodowski to become one of sixteen people responsible for creating the initial draft of the 2000 Democratic Party Platform. Podlodowski has had a long and varied career in civil rights legislation, philanthropy, and executive management. Dedicated to fairness for all people, she has been an ardent supporter of equal rights legislation across the nation. The committee is the first step in the Democratic Committee process. It produces a working document used by the Platform Committee to outline their agenda for the year. Info. 202-863-8054 ▼

GLBT Discrimination Banned In Federally Funded Schools

President Clinton issued an executive order prohibiting sexual orientation based discrimination in federally run education, training programs, and activities. Most public schools receive federal funding but they are not federally run so they are not affected by this order. Defense Department courses, however, are covered. Info. 206-296-4970 or www.safeschools-wa.org. ▼

Governor Signs Jury Non-Discrimination Law

Gov. Gray Davis signed AB 2418 which prohibits the use of peremptory challenges to remove a prospective juror on the assumption that the juror is biased merely because of race, color, religion, sex, national origin, or sexual orientation. Written by Assemblywoman Carole Migden (D-S.F.) the law prevents discriminatory removal of jurors in any trial. Info. 719-5847. ▼

Sexual Orientation is Important to ExxonMobil Shareholders

A total of 8.2% of ExxonMobil shareholders have voted in favor of adding sexual orientation to the company's written non-discrimination policy. Proponents of the measure termed the vote a success, noting that it is sufficient to bring the issue before stockholders again next year. This vote shows shareholders with millions of dollars of ExxonMobil stock are concerned about ExxonMobil's substandard equal employment opportunity policies. None of the several hundred attendees at the meeting spoke against the non-discrimination measure.

Lee R. Raymond, ExxonMobil's chairperson and CEO, defended ExxonMobil's position, saying legislative forums were the proper place for deciding which groups of workers should be protected from discrimination. He accused a supporter of the resolution of "pitting one group against another" to win coverage for sexual orientation.

"ExxonMobil has gone on record as opposing innovation in this area and letting the government set the pace and agenda of change," said investment analyst Shelley Alpern of Trillium Asset Management Corp., a co-sponsor of the proposal. "That's a fine strategy for letting your competitors get out ahead of you." Chevron, BP Amoco, Sunoco, Shell and Texaco ban discrimination and harassment based on sexual orientation, and BP Amoco, Shell and Chevron offer same-sex domestic partnership benefits. ExxonMobil's rejection of equality sends a chilling message to its customers, its stockholders and its potential investors about the values it embraces.

ExxonMobil shocked Mobil employees, the gay and lesbian community and civil rights groups in December when, following Exxon's merger with Mobil Corp., it rescinded the former Mobil non-discrimination policy that specifically included sexual orientation and chose not to extend Mobil's domestic partner benefits policy to employees of the new company. ExxonMobil is the first company to remove protection against sexual orientation discrimination from its equal employment opportunity policy. ExxonMobil has been unwilling to change its policies despite separate meetings with the shareholder coalition and the Human Rights Campaign. Info: www.equalityproject.org. ▼

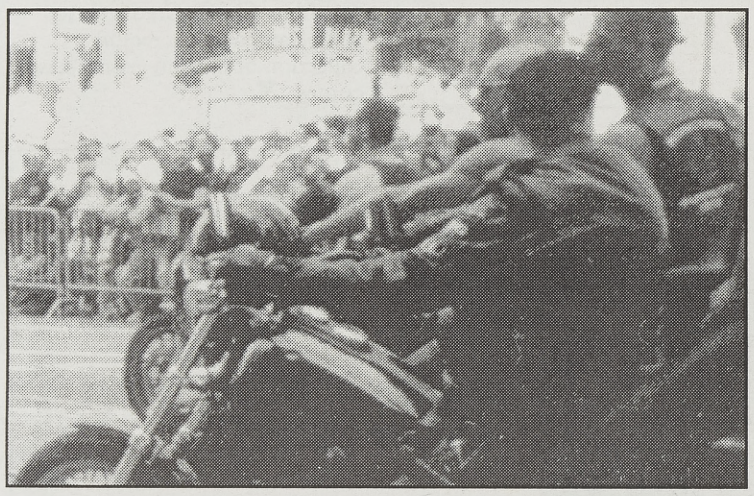
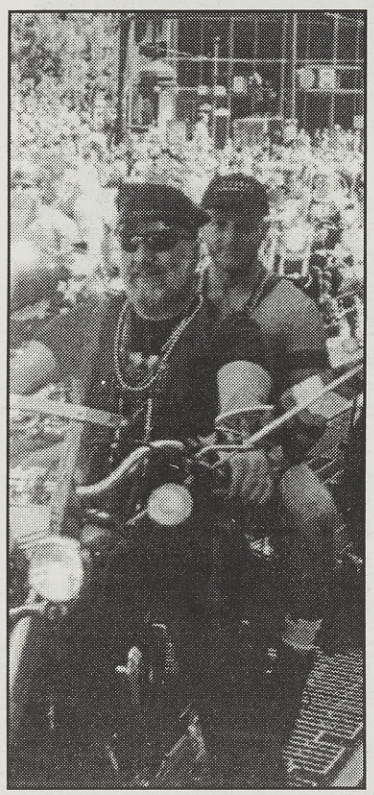
Valley Knights Motorcycle Club Video Documentary

Artist Russ Dunn has begun gathering film footage for a film documentary focusing on the 25 years of the Sacramento Valley's own gay motorcycle club, the Valley Knights. Dunn's previous film and stage projects include Carhops in Bondage, Beauty Parlor Detective, and Transition.

"We're really happy that Russ has decided to do this" says Valley Knights President Mike Butler. "He's a talented guy. He's got vision and experience, and I think the finished film will be something the gay archives and the gay and lesbian film festival will be interested in." Road Captain Gerard-Wing adds "Russ has been a friend of the club's for quite some time now and he has a sense of what the club has was like when it was first coming together 25 years ago."

Dunn has already followed the club to a number of events with his cameras rolling. His footage already includes the club enjoying the local Isleton Crawdad Festival, dinner runs, and the annual San Francisco Pride Parade in the motorcycle contingent. He'll be accompanying the club on future events including the club's annual mile high campout in the Sierra Nevadas. The weekend campout is July 21-23, and includes meals from Friday night to Sunday morning. Dunn will be there to film interviews, bike events, and the unique camaraderie between the club members, friends of the club, and any other who wish to sign up.





Future club runs include monthly dinner runs, open meetings and day rides to the Napa Valley, Downieville, Mt. Diablo, the local Toy Run, and an overnighter to Quincy. For dates and specific information, please contact the club's website at www.valleyknights.org. Applications for the run are available at www.valleyknights.org/fm.htm.

The Valley Knights Motorcycle Club requests the public's assistance in collecting any and all old photos, posters, buttons, and videotapes that relate to the club for the past 25 years. All materials on paper will be 'scanned and canned' in a matter of seconds, assuring instant return of your contribution videotapes overnight. This data drive is the club's first public appeal for assistance in the Valley Knights Motorcycle Club's history project. Info: Russ Dunn 731-5701. ▼

How Much Is Too Much?

After years of steady increases well above Bay Area's cost of living, San Francisco AIDS Foundation Executive Director Patricia L. Christen's annual salary rose by only about 2.3 percent in 1998-99. According to IRS reports that were reviewed by Terry Boswick of the B.A.R., Christen's raise, set by SFAF's board of directors, was a relatively modest $4,227, from $183,892 to $188,119. Adding an annual $13,201 benefit package given to all of SFAF's top earners last year, her total compensation package broke the $200,000 mark for the first time, for a grand total of $201,320.

Now in her tenth year as executive director, Christen got an 11.8 percent raise in 1997-98, keeping pace with a series of similar increases dating back to fiscal year 1990-91, when she took the top management position for $64,000. Christen, 40, has garnered escalating controversy over her increases among some critics.

SFAF's total income in 1998-99 was $18,099,652, an increase of about half a million dollars from fiscal year 1997-98. Assets on hand at the end of the year show that the nonprofit has maintained a healthy reserve, having grown to over $7 million. Total expenditures on client services and other programs during the last fiscal year were reported to IRS at $12,843,1999, an increase of less than $400,000 from the previous year.

The IRS requires that nonprofit organizations report the five highest paid employees on their annual 990 forms. Of the top five, Lance Henderson, SFAF's deputy director for finance and administration, took home the largest salary, as he did in fiscal year 1997-98. Henderson saw the biggest increase of the other top earners, winning a $15,869 hike in compensation over the previous year, from $125,439 to $141,308. This is a jump of 12.65 percent. Henderson's increase, notably, occurred during the same period as Christen's raise of 2.3 percent. Other reported top earners, who received compensation ranging from about $108,000 to $140,000 got raises of around 4 or 5 percent.

Client services director Susan Haikalis was bumped off the top five earners list by Ralph Jennings, SFAF's budget and fiscal contracts manager, who took in $108,793 last year, including benefits.

Overall, the ASO's approximately 100 employees' total salaries actually decreased to $5,069,011 last year, a cut of $184,742 from a total of $5,252,753 in 1997-98.

SFAF's five highest paid independent contractors also are reported on the 990. Among them, Pallotta and Associates got the same amount for producing the 1999 California AIDS Ride as in 1998: $180,000. Miller, Zeichik, and Associates, which produces the annual AIDS Walk, was also flat funded, receiving $95,000. ▼

Teacher Sues Modesto Schools

Attorneys filed a civil rights federal lawsuit against Modesto Public Schools on behalf of Laurel Ware. Allegedly, Ware was discriminated against and harassed based on her sexual orientation. Even though Ware had received two positive performance reviews, when she came out to the principal at her school, he requested a third review which was negative, placed her on leave, then refused to renew her contract. The State Labor Commission has already ruled in Ware's favor ordering her reinstatement with back pay. Ware had been a special education teacher in Modesto since 1998. ▼

Gay Man Files Suit Against Bakersfield Police

Attorneys filed a class action federal suit against the Bakersfield Police Department alleging that the rights of gay and bisexual men were violated during sting operations in public parks. GARDENNING

Garden Notes

By Robert Hamm
MGW staff

July is an in-between month in the valley – between our Spring and Fall growing seasons. It is hot and dry and watering is a constant chore but it is also a time to begin preparing for fall. Items that are overgrown, or have gotten lanky and tattered can benefit from a pruning now.

Spiderwort or Tradescantia x andersonii often looks poor and straggly by now. When cut almost to the ground it will continue to grow and bloom through fall.

Hostas which are bug eaten, if cut back to ground level and fed, will put on a new set of clean, neat foliage for fall (one exception: do not cut back H. krossa Regal).

Overgrown Penstemon can be cut back and will produce new growth and blooms.

Asters cut back in July will bloom this fall and be shorter and more compact; the same is true of chrysanthemums.

Divide and reset Iris, and they will establish and grow quite a bit this fall.

Items not to trim after mid-July include Rhododendron, Azalea, Camellia, and Dogwood. These plants start setting next year's buds in late July and early August.

Amaryllis halli, Naked Ladies, can be moved and separated either before flower stems come up or after flowering but before leaf growth starts in mid- to late August.

Fruit trees that have put on excessive growth can be thinned in July (this is European style). This makes it easier to see what you're doing, slows over-abundant growth and avoids the sudden spurt of water spouts that the customary hard winter pruning can cause.

Other items that can benefit from trimming include Veronicas that have gotten straggly; fall-blooming Pineapple and Mexican Sage (Salvias elegans and leucantha) to prevent them from getting too leggy before blooming or getting too impossibly big; Daylillies that have sunburned in the 100 degree plus weather; Mexican Primrose (oenthera berlanderi). Old, burned foliage spikes in Canna clumps can be cut down to force new growth and bloom. ▼

Italian Importing Company; A Bright New Spot

by Randy Hartley
MGW Food Editor

Remember when a grocery store was the focal point of food, friends and news? Well, welcome back Sacramento to what is real. Luigi Velo has created an old fashion meat counter, a fresh food deli, a dry, canned and fresh goods mecca and a sit down lunch plaza all rolled into one clean, well-organized place. The employees are very helpful and knowledgeable about all the many facets of this wonderful deli and market. They echo the warm and friendly atmosphere.

When you walk to the Italian Importing Company and when you touch real marble walls outside, it sets the stage for marble-style floors and the unmistakable aroma of Italian foods. There is a menu of fine fresh sandwiches and salads, pastas and daily entrees to make your lunch or early dinner time a relaxing time away from the daily pressures.

Born near Venice, Italy, Luigi Velo opened Italian Importing Company about three years ago. He brought with him authentic recipes, which he uses in his kitchen today giving the delicious and distinctive flavors to his food.

The market is neatly divided into sections that specialize in produce, olive oils, Caro Giannini cooking utensils; Italian hand painted and glazed ceramics, unique gifts, interesting desserts, pastas, beans, sauces, biscotti and panettone. There is an excellent wine section featuring vintners mostly from Italy, France and California. The liquor department is stocked full of specialty items. A refrigerated section of sodas, juices and of course Pellegrino Water are also available.

There is a small but marvelous butcher shop section that serves only the best quality beef filets, new york steaks, rib eyes, ham, rabbit, veal, chicken and a stuffed pork loin roast ready to cook at home.

The della Cucinetta (deli-sandwiches) section is the heart of this efficient operation. Among other items the deli features imported cheeses, olives, cold cuts and sausage. There are fresh salads made daily and a menu of authentic freshly cooked entrees to stimulate your palate. There are breads from the oven daily including ciabaita, asiago cheese, sour dough baguette and fisherman's wharf sour dough.

Salads include Italian, ceasar, warm spinach, grilled chicken and marinated artichokes and tuna ranging from $3.95 to $5.95.

Specialties include sautéed mushrooms and grilled polenta with herb olive oil and a little garlic served with a green salad and garlic bread (one of my favorites), braised chicken served with sun dried tomatoes and mushrooms over polenta and a side of green salad and garlic bread both at $6.95. Also available are hot daily special entrees with two side orders and a roll at $5.99. This summer there also will be an angel hair pasta dish with fresh garlic, tomatoes and basil available.

Pasta della casa (pasta of the house) includes meat or vegetable lasagna, beef ravioli, chicken fettuccini alfredo or spaghetti marinara with meat balls all for $6.95.

Panini dishes include chicken parmigiana served on foccacia, sautéed artichoke and tomato with pesto spread served on foccacia, grilled Portobello mushrooms with rosemary aioli and served on a freshly baked roll, Italian club or and Italian steak sandwich. Each dish is served with a choice of macaroni, potato, pasta salad or cole slaw with a price range between $4.95 and $7.75.

There are about seventeen different and delicious freshly made to order deli sandwiches ranging from $3.50 to $4.95.

You place your order at the deli counter. Tables adorn every isle and offer seating for refreshments and a great repast. When your food is ready it is brought to your table with a charge slip for the amount of the food. With a self-serve beverage section, bring your own news and, presto you won't want to leave. Select whatever you want to drink from the refrigerated section and pick a table and enjoy your meal. You should check out the excellent dessert section up front too! Before you leave, you settle with the cashier and tell him or her what else you purchased. The honor system is still alive and well at Luigi's place.

My dinner date, Marilyn Starr and I ordered the special tri tip and pasta with marinara sauce. Both were outstanding. We finished with a delicious tiramisu for dessert.

There is a full catering department to assist you with any occasion. The cucina pronta (food cooked to order and ready to go) provides take home items to serve your family and friends.

Just think of the time you can save and what excellent and authentic Italian food you can serve on your own dinning room table. With advanced notice special menus can be ordered and picked up for luncheon or dinner parties.

Italian food is noted to be the mother of all cuisine. Only the best of ingredients, as fresh as they can be found, and within the bounds of skill, preserve their identity in the preparation. Luigi's recipes originated from his mother's kitchen that were handed down through generations. He most definitely continues to carry on the preparation of pure Italian cuisine from the Venice region.

The Italian Importing Company is simply one of the best places to shop, meet friends and eat outstanding Italian food in town!

My only regret, and perhaps yours if you have not been there, is that I didn't know about this great place before… ▼

CHICKEN RUN. Starring the voice talents of Julia Sawalha, Mel Gibson, and Miranda Richardson. Directed by Peter Lord and Nick Park. (85 min., rated G)

Nick Park's animated shorts, featuring Wallace & Gromit, are a staple of animation film festivals—and for good reason. Their style is polished yet not too slick and the subject matter is hilarious in a uniquely British way that's also widely appealing. Indeed, the only regretful thing about Park's films is that there aren't enough of them.

CHICKEN RUN is the first foray that Aardman—an animation studio co-founded by director Peter Lord and also staffed by Nick Park—has made into feature filmmaking. It won't be their last; this film is just too appealing to adults and children alike to be passed by.

The story centers around the character of Ginger (Sawalha), a dreamy but determined chicken who hates being confined with her friends inside Tweedy's egg farm. Despite their best efforts at escape, they're always discovered and thrown back behind the chicken wire fence. Mostly this is because their meticulous plans lack the smooth execution needed to carry them out. They're a bumbling lot.

Their chopping-block destiny appears to change, however, when Rocky (Gibson), a rooster, comes flying over the fence one day. His apparent ability to fly astounds Ginger, who finally sees a real free-range future for her and her fellow hens. If he can teach them to fly, they'll all be able to escape forever.

Alas, such fine-feathered dreams run afoul of common sense, as even she realizes that chickens cannot fly. Rocky, ever the center of attention (boy does he have it now!), promises to teach them to fly.

Meanwhile, mean, masculine-looking Mrs. Tweedy (voiced by Richardson), who's always hen-pecking her husband, hatches a scheme to milk those chickens for all they're worth. Rather than lay cheap eggs for a living, they'll gives their lives to the ultra-modern baking/killing machine that racks up chicken pot pies faster than Chevy's "El Machino" spits out tortillas.

CHICKEN RUN becomes a race between man and bird to see how the chickens will leave the farm: on their own wings or in a delivery wagon.

No matter that Rocky needs a cannon to help him fly, or that Fowler—an older, grizzled war veteran chicken in the group—was "only a chicken" in the Royal Air Force: these birds have enough spunk and luck to carry it off.

If the film's setup and action seem like a classic World War II movie, that's no coincidence. Lord and Park watched many old war films to get their ideas started, so that's why there's a bit of "The Great Escape" here and "Stalag 17" there. The chicken coop looks like a POW camp and Mrs. Tweedy acts like a Nazi. It's "Hogan's Heroes," only funny. These references may be foreign to the children in the audience, but it seems like a natural fit for adults. It makes the stakes seem very high—which they are for the birds, even though they're animated.

CHICKEN RUN is a success on many levels. The animation is, of course, beyond first-rate. The Plasticine hens have amazingly realistic and identifiable expressions. The dialog is snappy and devoid of dopiness, even when it's meant to be romantic. The imagery is inventive. The humor isn't puerile. The music is appropriately melodramatic. The story is simple, yet not without its flights of ingenuity. Park's trademark loony details in the background—though fleeting—catch the eye and add to the overall humor of the film. Even the running time is just right. What more could you want? How many comedies filmed with actors can boast of these qualities?

CHICKEN RUN plays at Century Stadium 14 and Century Cinedome in Sacramento, Holiday Cinema in Davis, and other area theaters. Check out the official Web site at www.chickenrun.co.uk for more fun. ▼

WHAT YOUR PROTEASE INHIBITOR CAN BE:

Start therapy VIRACEPT is tough on HIV. In many people, VIRACEPT lowered the amount of HIV in the blood to levels below the limit of detection of the test used and substantially increased CD4 cell counts after 48 weeks of triple combination therapy.

Take your medicine VIRACEPT is easy to live with. Take it two or three times a day (according to your doctor's instructions) with your normal meals or light snacks.

Every dose. Every day.™ VIRACEPT works. It is indicated for the treatment of HIV infection when anti-HIV drug therapy is warranted. It is not yet known whether taking VIRACEPT will help you live longer or reduce the number of infections or other illnesses that can occur with HIV.

Plan ahead Learn how your treatment plan helps you fight HIV. Take an active role in designing your treatment plan along with your healthcare provider. Ask your doctor, nurse, or pharmacist how VIRACEPT can be part of your strategy for long-term management of HIV.

VIRACEPT
nelfinavir mesylate
tablets and oral powder

NOW VIRACEPT MAY BE TAKEN TWICE A DAY

Things you should know about VIRACEPT VIRACEPT is generally well tolerated. People treated with VIRACEPT may experience some side effects; the most common is diarrhea. Diarrhea of moderate or severe intensity occurred in about one out of five people in clinical trials.

Some common medications and some HIV-related medications should not be taken with VIRACEPT. Protease inhibitors, including VIRACEPT, may interact with cholesterol-lowering drugs. Talk to your doctor about any prescription or non-prescription drugs you are taking. For some people, protease inhibitors have been associated with the onset or worsening of diabetes mellitus and hyperglycemia, changes in the distribution or accumulation of body fat, and increased bleeding in patients with hemophilia. For more information, call toll free 1-888-VIRACEPT or visit www.viracept.com. (Refer to the important information on the next page.)

Information for Patients About VIRACEPT® (VI-ra-cept)
Generic Name: nelfinavir (nel-FIN-na-veer) mesylate

For the Treatment of Human Immunodeficiency Virus (HIV) Infection
Please read this information carefully before taking VIRACEPT. Also, please read this leaflet each time you renew the prescription, just in case anything has changed. This is a summary and not a replacement for a careful discussion with your doctor. You and your doctor should discuss VIRACEPT when you start taking this medication and at regular checkups. You should remain under a doctor's care when taking VIRACEPT and should not change or stop treatment without first talking with your doctor.

What is VIRACEPT and how does it work?
VIRACEPT is used in the treatment of people with human immunodeficiency virus (HIV) infection. Infection with HIV leads to the destruction of CD4 T cells, which are important to the immune system. After a large number of CD4 cells have been destroyed, the infected person develops acquired immune deficiency syndrome (AIDS).

VIRACEPT works by blocking HIV protease (a protein-cutting enzyme), which is required for HIV to multiply. VIRACEPT has been shown to significantly reduce the amount of HIV in the blood. You should be aware, however, that the effect of VIRACEPT on HIV in the blood has not been correlated with long-term health benefits. Patients who took VIRACEPT also had significant increases in the number of CD4 cell count.

VIRACEPT is usually taken together with other antiretroviral drugs such as Retrovir® (zidovudine, AZT), Epivir® (lamivudine, 3TC), or Zerit® (stavudine, d4T). Taking VIRACEPT in combination with other antiretroviral drugs reduces the amount of HIV in the body (viral load) and raises CD4 counts.

VIRACEPT may be taken by adults, adolescents, and children 2 years of age or older. Studies in infants younger than 2 years of age are now taking place.

Does VIRACEPT cure HIV or AIDS?
VIRACEPT is not a cure for HIV infection or AIDS. The long-term effects of VIRACEPT are not known at this time. People taking VIRACEPT may still develop opportunistic infections or other conditions associated with HIV infection. Some of these conditions are pneumonia, herpes virus infections, Mycobacterium avium complex (MAC) infections, and Kaposi's sarcoma.

It is not known whether VIRACEPT will help you live longer or reduce the number of infections or other illnesses that may occur.

There is no proof that VIRACEPT can reduce the risk of transmitting HIV to others through sexual contact or blood contamination.

Who should or should not take VIRACEPT?
Together with your doctor, you need to decide whether VIRACEPT is appropriate for you. In making your decision, the following should be considered:

Allergies: If you have had a serious allergic reaction to VIRACEPT, you must not take VIRACEPT. You should also inform your doctor, nurse, or pharmacist of any known allergies to substances such as other medicines, foods, preservatives, or dyes.

If you are pregnant: The effects of VIRACEPT on pregnant women or their unborn babies are not known. If you are pregnant or plan to become pregnant, you should tell your doctor before taking VIRACEPT.

If you are breast-feeding: You should discuss with your doctor the best way to feed your baby. You should be aware that if your baby does not already have HIV, there is a chance that it can be transmitted through breast-feeding. Women should not breast-feed if they have HIV.

Children: VIRACEPT is available for the treatment of children 2 through 13 years of age with HIV. There is a powder form of VIRACEPT that can be mixed with milk, baby formula, or foods like pudding. Instructions on how to take VIRACEPT powder can be found in a later section that discusses how VIRACEPT Oral Powder should be prepared.

If you have liver disease: VIRACEPT has not been studied in people with liver disease. If you have liver disease, you should tell your doctor before taking VIRACEPT.

Other medical problems: Certain medical problems may affect the use of VIRACEPT. Some people taking protease inhibitors have developed new or more serious diabetes or high blood sugar. Some people with hemophilia have had increased bleeding. It is not known whether the protease inhibitors caused these problems. Be sure to tell your doctor if you have hemophilia types A and B, diabetes mellitus, or an increase in thirst and/or frequent urination.

Changes in body fat have been seen in some patients taking protease inhibitors. These changes may include increased amount of fat in the upper back and neck ("buffalo hump"), breast, and around the trunk. Loss of fat from the legs and arms may also happen. The cause and long-term health effects of these conditions are not known at this time.

Can VIRACEPT be taken with other medications?
VIRACEPT may interact with other drugs, including those you take without a prescription. You must discuss with your doctor any drugs that you are taking or are planning to take before you take VIRACEPT.

Drugs you should not take with VIRACEPT:
- Hismanal® (astemizole, for allergies)
- Propulsid® (cisapride, for heartburn)
- Cordarone® (amiodarone, for irregular heartbeat)
- Quinidine® (for irregular heartbeat), also known as Quinaglute®, Cardioquin®, Quinidex®, and others
- Ergot derivatives (Cafergot® and others, for migraine headache)
- Halcion® (triazolam)
- Versed® (midazolam)

Taking the above drugs with VIRACEPT may cause serious and/or life-threatening adverse events.

- Rifampin® (for tuberculosis), also known as Rimactane®, Rifadin®, Rifater®, or Rifamate®

This drug reduces blood levels of VIRACEPT.

Dose reduction required if you take VIRACEPT with:
- Mycobutin® (rifabutin, for MAC); you will need to take a lower dose of Mycobutin.

A change of therapy should be considered if you are taking VIRACEPT with:
- Phenobarbital
- Phenytoin (Dilantin® and others)
- Carbamazepine (Tegretol® and others)

These agents may reduce the amount of VIRACEPT in your blood and make it less effective.

- Oral contraceptives ("the pill")

If you are taking the pill to prevent pregnancy, you should use a different type of contraception since VIRACEPT may reduce the effectiveness of oral contraceptives.

Special considerations
Before you take Viagra® (sildenafil) with VIRACEPT, talk to your doctor about possible drug interactions and side effects. If you take Viagra and VIRACEPT together, you may be at increased risk of side effects of Viagra such as low blood pressure, visual changes, and penile erection lasting more than 4 hours. If an erection lasts longer than 4 hours, you should seek immediate medical assistance to avoid permanent damage to your penis. Your doctor can explain these symptoms to you.

It is not recommended to take VIRACEPT with the cholesterol-lowering drugs Mevacor® (lovastatin) or Zorcor® (simvastatin) because of possible drug interactions. There is also an increased risk of drug interactions between VIRACEPT and Lipitor® (atorvastatin) and Baycol® (cerivastatin); talk to your doctor before you take either of these cholesterol reducing drugs with VIRACEPT.

How should VIRACEPT be taken with other anti-HIV drugs?
Taking VIRACEPT together with other anti-HIV drugs increases their ability to fight the virus. It also reduces the opportunity for resistant viruses to grow. Based on your history of taking other anti-HIV medicine, your doctor will direct you on how to take VIRACEPT and other anti-HIV medicines. These drugs should be taken in a certain order or at specific times. This will depend on how many times a day each medicine should be taken. It will also depend on whether it should be taken with or without food.

Nucleoside analogues: No drug interaction problems were seen when VIRACEPT was given with:

- Retrovir (zidovudine, AZT)
- Epivir (lamivudine, 3TC)
- Zerit (stavudine, d4T)
- Videx® (didanosine, ddI)

If you are taking both Videx (ddI) and VIRACEPT:
Videx should be taken without food, on an empty stomach. Therefore, you should take VIRACEPT with food one hour after or more than two hours before you take Videx.

Nonnucleoside reverse transcriptase inhibitors (NNRTIs):
When VIRACEPT is taken together with:

Viramune® (nevirapine)
The amount of VIRACEPT in your blood may be reduced. Studies are now taking place to learn about the safety of combining VIRACEPT with Viramune.

Sustiva™ (efavirenz)
The amount of VIRACEPT in your blood may be increased. A dose adjustment is not needed when VIRACEPT is used with Sustiva.

Other NNRTIs
VIRACEPT has not been studied with other NNRTIs.

Other protease inhibitors:
When VIRACEPT is taken together with:

Crixivan® (indinavir)
The amount of both drugs in your blood may be increased. Currently, there are no safety and efficacy data available from the use of this combination.

Norvir™ (ritonavir)
The amount of VIRACEPT in your blood may be increased. Currently, there are no safety and efficacy data available from the use of this combination.

Invirase® (saquinavir)
The amount of saquinavir in your blood may be increased. Currently, there are no safety and efficacy data available from the use of this combination.

What are the side effects of VIRACEPT?
Like all medicines, VIRACEPT can cause side effects. Most of the side effects experienced with VIRACEPT have been mild to moderate. Diarrhea is the most common side effect in people taking VIRACEPT, and most adult patients had at least mild diarrhea at some point during treatment. In clinical studies, about 14-20% of patients receiving VIRACEPT 750 mg (three tablets) three times daily or 1250 mg (five tablets) two times daily had four or more loose stools a day. In most cases, diarrhea can be controlled using antidiarrheal medicines, such as Imodium® A-D (loperamide) and others, which are available without a prescription.

Other side effects that occurred in 2% or more of patients receiving VIRACEPT include abdominal pain, asthenia, nausea, flatulence, and rash.

There were other side effects noted in clinical studies that occurred in less than 2% of patients receiving VIRACEPT. However, these side effects may have been due to other drugs that patients were taking or to the illness itself. Except for diarrhea, there were not many differences in side effects in patients who took VIRACEPT along with other drugs compared with those who took only the other drugs. For a complete list of side effects, ask your doctor, nurse, or pharmacist.

How should I take VIRACEPT?
VIRACEPT is available only with your doctor's prescription. Your doctor may prescribe the light blue VIRACEPT Tablets either as 1250 mg (five tablets) taken two times a day or as 750 mg (three tablets) taken three times a day. VIRACEPT should always be taken with a meal or a light snack.

Take VIRACEPT exactly as directed by your doctor. Do not increase or decrease any dose or the number of doses per day. Also, take this medicine for the exact period of time that your doctor has instructed. Do not stop taking VIRACEPT without first consulting with your doctor, even if you are feeling better.

Only take medicine that has been prescribed specifically for you. Do not give VIRACEPT to others or take medicine prescribed for someone else.

The dosing of VIRACEPT may be different for you than for other patients. Follow the directions from your doctor, exactly as written on the label. The amount of VIRACEPT in the blood should remain somewhat consistent over time. Missing doses will cause the concentration of VIRACEPT to decrease; therefore, you should not miss any doses. However, if you miss a dose, you should take the dose as soon as possible and then take your next scheduled dose and future doses as originally scheduled.

Dosing in adults (including children 14 years of age and older)
The recommended adult dose of VIRACEPT is 1250 mg (five tablets) taken two times a day or 750 mg (three tablets) taken three times a day. Each dose should be taken with a meal or light snack.

Dosing in children 2 to 13 years of age
The VIRACEPT dose in children depends on their weight. The recommended dose is 20 to 30 mg/kg (or 9 to 14 mg/pound) per dose, taken three times daily with a meal or light snack. This can be administered either in tablet form or, in children unable to take tablets, as VIRACEPT Oral Powder.

Dose instructions will be provided by the child's doctor. The dose will be given three times daily using the measuring scoop provided, a measuring teaspoon, or one or more tablets depending on the weight and age of the child. The amount of oral powder or tablets to be given to a child is described in the chart below.

Pediatric Dose to be Administered Three Times Daily

Body Weight Kg	Lb	Number of Level Scoops*	Number of Level Teaspoons†	Number of Tablets
7 to <8.5	15.5 to <18.5	4	1	——
8.5 to <10.5	18.5 to <23	5	1 1/4	——
10.5 to <12	23 to <26.5	6	1 1/2	——
12 to <14	26.5 to <31	7	1 3/4	——
14 to <16	31 to <35	8	2	——
16 to <18	35 to <39.5	9	2 1/4	——
18 to <23	39.5 to <50.5	10	2 1/2	2
≥ 23	≥50.5	15	3 3/4	3

In measuring oral powder, the scoop or teaspoon should be level.
*1 level scoop contains 50 mg of VIRACEPT. Use only the scoop provided with your VIRACEPT bottle.

†1 level teaspoon contains 200 mg of VIRACEPT. Note: A measuring teaspoon used for dispensing medication should be used for measuring VIRACEPT Oral Powder. Ask your Pharmacist to make sure you have a medication dispensing teaspoon.

How should VIRACEPT Oral Powder be prepared?
The oral powder may be mixed with a small amount of water, milk, formula, soy formula, soy milk, dietary supplements, or dairy foods such as pudding or ice cream. Once mixed, the entire amount must be taken to obtain the full dose.

Do not mix the powder with any acidic foods or juice, such as orange or grapefruit juice, apple juice, or apple sauce, because this may create a bitter taste.

Once the powder is mixed, it may be stored at room temperature or refrigerated for up to 6 hours. Do not heat the mixed dose once it has been prepared.

Do not add water to bottles of oral powder.

VIRACEPT powder is supplied with a scoop for measuring. For help in determining the exact dose of powder for your child, please ask your doctor, nurse, or pharmacist.

VIRACEPT Oral Powder contains aspartame, a low-calorie sweetener, and therefore should not be taken by children with phenylketonuria (PKU).

How should VIRACEPT be stored?
Keep VIRACEPT and all other medicines out of the reach of children. Keep bottle closed and stored at room temperature (between 59°F and 86°F) away from sources of moisture such as a sink or other damp place. Heat and moisture may reduce the effectiveness of VIRACEPT.

Do not keep medicine that is out of date or that you no longer need. Be sure that if you throw any medicine away, it is out of the reach of children.

Discuss all questions about your health with your doctor. If you have questions about VIRACEPT or any other medication you are taking, ask your doctor, nurse, or pharmacist. You can also call 1.888.VIRACEPT (1.888.847.2237) toll free.

OUT WITH PETS

Adopting a New Kitten

by Randy Jamison
MGW staf

New kittens, although less labor-intensive than puppies, are easiest to manage with a small amount of preparation. Their basic needs are for food, water, shelter and at least one litter box, along with lots of play! Because inappropriate urination and defecation are the most frequent behavioral complaints of cat owners, it pays to give some attention to litter box location, size, depth and contents. Unlike the ads that describe kittens as "litter-trained," the use of litter for urination and defecation is an instinctive behavior, although the preference for particular litter materials might initially be learned from the mother cat.

If you live in a large house with more than one level, limit the kitten's access to a small area (such as 1-2 rooms) on a single floor until it has demonstrated its use of the box. You can also aid the transition by placing your kitten gently into the litter box several times daily. It helps to remember that even "well trained" kittens may not be able to travel to a different floor or remote location to eliminate. Providing a box on each floor helps prevent "accidents."

Statistically, most people who live with cats share their home with more than one. Cats are certainly social animals. However, unlike dogs they do not live in social groups if given the choice (Situations such as dairy farms or urban dumpsters are an exception because of the availability of food.) For this reason, problems may erupt when a second or third cat is added to the household.

What can you do to minimize the stress of a multiple-cat home? Here are several suggestions: First, keep the cats separated for at least the first week. Introduce them gradually. For example, the new cat or kitten might first be confined to a single room (always a good idea especially for introducing kittens to the litter box), with a solid door separating her from the resident cats. To help them investigate each other's smells, exchange food, water bowls or cat toys. The solid door might then be replaced by a transparent barrier such as a glass door, a baby gate or a screen. After several more days of sight and smell introductions, allow the cats to look each other over by placing one in a cat carrier for short periods.

During this transition you may hear some vocal protests in the form of hisses and growls. As long as the cats are not caterwauling (best described as a haunting shriek) or attempting to strike each other with paws, their ambivalence is probably harmless. Eventually you will need to take a deep breath and open the screen or carrier door. Because cats have very different personalities, you may find that one prefers to "hide" while the other walks through the house with intrepid ease. Still others may spend much of their time sleeping, oblivious to everyone and everything.

Staying aware of cat personalities in your home will help you to accommodate each one's needs. For example, an extra litter box and food bowl may help timid cats regain their self-confidence. In most cases, cats will tolerate each other's presence (or, if you're lucky, may even develop a close relationship and groom each other) and your animal family will have grown by one.

For those of us who visit animal shelters or scan the classified pet ads, the enticement of giving a good home to a homeless cat is a great one. Several considerations might ease the transition to a new family for both you and your new cat. First, try to learn the reasons the previous owners gave up the cat. Was she an unclaimed stray? Does she have social conflicts with other cats in the house? A history of spraying urine on the stereo speakers? Learning the reasons, if possible, can go a long way in helping you to accommodate the cat's needs.

Consider opening your heart and home to an older cat. Some of the sweetest cats available are those whose owners have passed away. If a cat has caught your eye, try to learn as much about her as possible. Is there a behavior concern?

If yes, consider whether you have the resources and time to address it. Regardless of whether background information is available (or credible), it helps to have a list of questions for the previous family or shelter personnel. Include in your inquiry the cat's history of litter box use, social behavior with other cats, dogs and people, vaccinations and medical history, and any evidence of unusual behaviors or habits of which you should be aware.

Finally, on adoption day, allow the cat access to only a small area of your home at first (just as you would for a new kitten), gradually increasing access over the course of several days. Be patient if your new pet chooses to hide under the bed. As long as food, water and litter boxes are nearby, she will eventually gain the confidence to explore.

I want to take a moment to mention S.P.I.C.E. (Stray Placements In Caring Environments). They are good people who are working hard to find caring homes for stray animals. SPICE attracts advertisers to sponsor pets, who are then fostered to homes until they are able to find permanent placements for the pets. You will be able to find their newspaper, The Pet Gazette, in racks in the downtown area very soon. Until then, call them at 451-6744. You will be doing yourselves and the animals a big favor. ▼

NYPD Blue Actor Comes Out

The best thing that's happened about it [my coming out] is nothing. The world didn't end, my career didn't come to a complete halt, I didn't get ridiculed, I didn't get yelled at.

Life went on just as I'd hoped it would. I hope that is the thing that I can sort of give to people. Nothing went wrong, it's all going pretty darned well. I think that's the day that we're all kind of struggling toward; the day that will be the case for everyone, when everyone will be able to be out and who they are and no one will care ... and life will just carry on."

ON THE HIV FRONT

By Sonya Cox
AIDS/HIV Editor

New infections soar in San Francisco...

San Francisco has seen new HIV infections nearly double during the last year, after years of stable numbers. UC-San Francisco researchers believe the surge marks the next stage of the epidemic. So far this year, there have been over 800 new HIV cases (575 of them gay or bisexual men) compared to an average of 500 new cases per year throughout most of the 1990s. Physicians say the new numbers should sound a warning bell for the city and for the rest of the country, because San Francisco trends are usually soon followed by similar trends elsewhere.

In the early 1980s, San Francisco saw 6,000 new infections each year, eventually leaving the city with over 18,000 fatalities. By 1996 there were 6,400 HIV-positive San Franciscans. Today, there are more than 10,000. Part of this statistic is reflected by the growing number of cases, and part by the fact that many of the men who were included in the 1996 statistics are still alive due to the improved drug combinations. On the other side of this coin is the fact that there is now a larger pool of people who can transmit the disease should they choose to have unprotected sex. And sadly, more are apparently doing so. Today's young gay men did not experience the devastation of the earlier years, cannot comprehend even the concept of having nearly all of your friends die, consider HIV to be something that affected a previous generation, and mistakenly believe that HIV is now an easily treatable illness. In recent years, the number of males who have had high-risk unprotected sex with more than one partner has nearly doubled, rising from 23 percent in 1994 to 43 percent in 1999. And of course there has been the accompanying sharp increase in other sexually transmitted diseases – most especially rectal gonorrhea, which has also more than doubled. The number of men who say they always use a condom, every time with every partner, dropped from 70 percent to 54 percent over the past few years. Hopefully Sacramento's men will find the strength to halt this trend both in our city and in their travels out of town. Take a stand, take care of yourselves, and take care of your partners. ▼

Older generation struggling with depression...

More older HIV-positive people with little social support – especially when fighting additional conditions like heart disease, diabetes, and arthritis -- are struggling with depressing, says a research study by the Medical College of Wisconsin. The survey of 113 Milwaukee men and women with HIV between the ages of 47 and 69 found a high number suffering from depression, including about 26 percent who had had thoughts of suicide within the last week.

Dentist's creative invention soon available...

Houston dentist Dr. Kevin Sorrels has created a device called PercuGuard that reduces the risk by health care workers of contracting HIV or hepatitis from accidental needle sticks. The device is a plastic sleeve that fits over the fingers of the hand not holding the syringe. The dentist says it's up to 20 times more puncture-resistant than a glove made out of latex, and is expected to be available to healthcare providers by late August. ▼

Australian government targets apathy, misunderstanding...

Australia's government has established a five-year plan to fight HIV, as many young people there have grown complacent about the disease. An estimated 700 Australians are infected with HIV each year (11 percent of them women). The Australian national health ministry says safe sex messages do not appear to be as effective on today's young people as they were with the previous generation, possibly due to a sense of invulnerability. Officials say more specific info, especially regarding HIV prevention and heterosexual transmission, needs to be targeted to Australia's poor.

A second report from the Australian Research Center suggests that HIV-infected women in Australia are more distrustful of anti-retroviral drugs than men. Fewer than 66 percent of the women surveyed use HIV drugs, versus 75 percent of the men. The study author says many women are not convinced the drugs work – especially since they believe all of the trials have been conducted on men. ▼

Is AIDS in Africa a distinct disease?...

AIDS in Africa varies from AIDS in the western world by more than a few variables. HIV has raced through Africa, and evolved into several strains throughout the continent. Researchers are not sure what causes so many more strains there than here, but believe that treatment could be enhanced if they could find out. Tuberculosis is the number one AIDS-related disease in Africa and is the largest killer of people with HIV. In the United States, TB is rare for people with AIDS. Pneumocystis carinii pneumonia (PCP) is more common here, and it's often preventable or treatable with new medications. Africans rarely contract PCP, as they seem to have antibodies to the protozoa for PCP. ▼

One in four Africans admit rape...

A survey published in a July issue of South Africa's Sunday Times reports that one in four South African men questioned said they had committed rape before age 18, and 8 out of 10 say they believe women are responsible for sexual violence. Worse, the number of rapes has dramatically risen over the past five years. This directly impacts South Africa's AIDS infection rate, as more than 4 million residents of the country are thought to be infected with HIV. ▼

FEATHERING YOUR NEST
An Interactive Workbook and Guide to a Loving Lesbian Relationship
Gwen Leonhard, M.Ed.
& Jennie Mast, MSW, BCSW

Don't let the name of this book fool you, it is not just for lesbians. Between the covers, from front to back Leonhard and Mast have not wasted a single page on useless information. Although written for the Loving Lesbian Relationship in mind, the information shared in here is not only timeless in its approach but easily applied to building relationships of any orientation.

Packed full of proven techniques, Feathering Your Nest shows you ways to create fun and excitement in your relationship, regain or maintain that romance, find that direction as a couple as well as teaches you down to earth ways to work out your differences and conflicts.

Feathering Your Nest shares some wonderful ways to express your love, like:

*Fixing your lovers coffee or tea 'just' the way they like it,

*Dancing with them in the kitchen when a favorite slow song comes on the radio,

*Or (If appropriate) send your partner's mother flowers on your partner's birthday, thanking her for the wonderful gift she have given to you (your partner).

So often we don't think about getting positive advice about our relationships until we feel a problem is brewing. Relationships aren't only about fixing problems or working out differences they are also about two (or more) individuals creating a family, a home, memories and a lasting love. What's that saying about preventative medicine being the best cure?

Feathering Your Nest gives you practical guidelines and space to not only work through areas that could prove to create difficulties but also the space to build and create that loving relationship whether you are Lesbian, Polyamorous, Multicultural, Gay or Heterosexual. From the very first chapter: Getting the Dialogue Going, and on through to the end you can feel the motivation, caring and love that authors Leonhard and Mast into their 'must have' resource book. ▼

ENTERTAINMENT: OUT IN HOLLYWOOD

Just Sniffing Butts

by Gerald Semas

FILM.....

Greg Kinnear (As Good As It Gets) joins Ashley Judd, Marissa Tomei and Ellen Barkin in the ensemble comedy Animal Husbandry. The film follows a magazine columnist who develops theories about her love life based on the animal world. Now would YOU date who man who was humping your leg in some strange bar? OK, how about a bar you were familiar with? Director Tony Goldwyn (A Walk on the Moon) starts shooting at the end of the month. ▼▼▼ You won't be able to sit in a crowded theatre and watch Cameron Diaz's latest movie Things You Can Tell Just by Looking at Her. Powers at MGM have overeacted to what has been described as a "chick flick" and sold the picture to Showtime. A surprising move in that the project stars some strong box office names like Calista Flockhart, Holly Hunter, and Glenn Close. Allegedly, studio heads feared the film's estrogen rooted dialogue would could lost among an assault by Summer blockbusters. What, they've never heard of moving a release date? During a recent appearance on late night TV, Flockhart discussed a scene in the film in which she kisses another woman. ▼▼▼

From the same stagnant well comes another bad idea in filmmaking. FOX is developing a hip-hop version of The Wizard of Oz, with Queen Latifah as Glinda the Good Witch, Busta Rhymes as the Cowardly Lion, Little Richard as the Wizard, Patti LaBelle as the Wicked Witch of the West and Ginuwine as the Scarecrow. The production expects to ad another big name to the role of Dorothy and have original songs written for the film. ▼▼▼ Mark Wahlberg (Boogie Nights) has signed on for the lead in director Tim Burton's (Edward Scissorhands) planned remake of The Planet of the Apes. Rumor has it that Wahlberg will NOT step into the shoes of the role created by Gun-aholic Charlton Heston but will portray and entirely new character. Filming is scheduled to begin in the Fall for a Summer 2001 release. ▼▼▼

R.E.M. singer Michael Stipe's production company, Self Timer, has signed a three-year, first-look deal with United Artists Films. Stipe's previous movie-producing experience includes the independent film Velvet Goldmine and, more recently, the waste-of-film self indulgent Being John Malkovich. ▼▼▼ Velvet Underground alumni Christian Bale plays a law-enforcement agent in a fascist world where emotions are forbidden in the futuristic thriller Librium. Joining him are Emily Watson and Taye Diggs for director Kurt Wimmer (The Thomas Crown Affair).

Ashley Judd joins Greg Kinnear, Marissa Tomei and Ellen Barkin in a new comedy, Animal Husbandry

▼▼▼ Chloë Sevigny (Boys Don't Cry) is in negotiations to star in the period film Uprising about the Warsaw Ghetto unrest of 1943. Director Jon Avnet (Fried Green Tomatoes) starts shooting by the New Year in Eastern Europe. ▼▼▼

THEATRE.....

The Pink Panther is heading to Broadway and it ain't as a balloon in the Macy's parade. Blake Edwards is writing a stage version of his Pink Panther film franchise, tentatively slated to open on Broadway in two years. Blake previously brought a musical version of his movie Victor/Victoria to the Broadway stage, starring his wife, Julie Andrews. ▼▼▼ Charles Nelson Reilly is celebrating his 50th year in showbiz when his new solo show, Save It for the Stage: The Life of Reilly, at Burbank's Falcon Theatre through Aug. 27th. The show looks back at Reilly's colorful half century of life on stage and off. But will Brett Somers be making a guest appearance? ▼▼▼ The American musical Pageant, will move to the West End's Vaudeville Theatre in August. The musical takes place during an American beauty contest called the Miss Glamouresse competition. British tap dancer and entertainer Lionel Blair plays competition emcee Frankie Cavalier who oversees the all-male contest.. Each night, the audience decides who the winner will be.

Lea DeLaria, the singer-actress Lea DeLaria has moved from her critically acclaimed role in the Off-Broadway production of The Greatest Story Ever Told to that of author. Fans can pick up her book Lea's Book of Rules for the World at bookstores now. The Dell trade paperback was released this spring, is co written with Maggie Cassella and features candid explanations and observations of lesbian life, sex and love. ▼▼▼ The Donmar Warehouse's revival of Tennessee Williams' Orpheus Descending, running through Aug. 12 is under the charge of Gay director Nicholas Hytner and stars Helen Mirren. The two had previously worked together on Alan Bennett's hugely successful play The Madness of George III. Mirren plays Lady, a lonely shopkeeper's wife condemned to a loveless marriage and a life of tedium in a dusty old store in a god-forsaken deep Southern town. Isn't "god-forsaken deep Southern town" redundant? Orpheus Descending is Hytner's debut production for the Donmar Warehouse and the theatre's first production of a Tennessee Williams' play since its award-winning revival of The Glass Menagerie in 1993. ▼▼▼

TELEVISION .....

Changes in store for fans of Buffy Vampire Slayer. A new character named Dawn, will debut acting as a sort of unofficial little sister to Buffy. Casting calls went out for girls between the ages of 10 - 15 years old but then again, it could have been a date request by Woody Allen. Much like the boy in the film The Sixth Sense, Dawn will have psychic abilities allowing her to see and communicate with the dead. ▼▼▼ Due to it's ratings success, CBS has decided to extend the final episode of it's summer hit, Survivors, to 2 hours. The somber Gilligan's Island will conclude on Aug. 23 from 8 - 10pm. ▼▼▼ Unfortunately, CBS's other reality Voyeur-a-thon show Big Brother won't end soon enough. An interesting concept instigated by the success of MTV's The Real World and Survivor, what ended up being broadcast is a box full of uninteresting people with nothing to do. The house has bare necessities and practically no decor to make the resident's feel like they are in a home. The over done one way mirror on every wall act as constant reminders to residents that they are on camera. How realistic will the displayed behavior really be. Thanks but no thanks, I'll stick to reruns of The West Wing which are just as good the second time around. ▼▼▼

TEACH YOUR CHILDREN
by Graham Nash

You who are on the road
Must have a code that you can live by
And so become yourself
Because the past is just a good bye.

Teach your children well,
Their father's hell did slowly go by,
And feed them on your dreams
The one they picks, the one you'll know by.

Don't you ever ask them why, if they told you, you will cry,
So just look at them and sigh and know they love you.

And you, of tender years,
Can't know the fears that your elders grew by,
And so please help them with your youth,
They seek the truth before they can die.

Teach your parents well,
Their children's hell will slowly go by,
And feed them on your dreams
The one they picks, the one you'll know by.

Don't you ever ask them why, if they told you, you will cry,
So just look at them and sigh and know they love you.
